

ASX ANNOUNCEMENT AND MEDIA RELEASE

28 August 2015

MORE RC SAMPLES SUBMITTED FOR ASSAYING
HIGHLIGHTS

- Drill hole is located 100m west of the 99m @ 1.21 g/t intersection, which is entirely mineralised from surface
- RC drill chips are visibly similar to mineralised drill chips of the Confirmed Mineralised Zone
- RC drill chips are hydrothermally altered volcanics with disseminated pyrite

Cardinal Resources Limited (ASX: CDV) ("Cardinal" or "the Company") announces that samples from RC drill hole NMRC454-750 (Figure 1) have been submitted to the SGS Laboratory, Burkina Faso for fire assaying. Results are expected within two weeks.

This drill hole was drilled within the recently acquired area north of the Namdini Mining Licence ("Namdini"), located within Cardinal's Namdini Project in Ghana (Figure 2).

This drill hole is located 100m west of the drill hole NMRC452-770, which is entirely mineralised from surface, containing a gold intersection of 99m @ 1.21 g/t within intrusive monzonite granitoids.

The RC drill chips are hydrothermally altered volcaniclastics containing disseminated pyrite and quartz veinlets, which are very similar to drill chips observed within the Confirmed Mineralised Zone, approximately 400m along strike to the south.

The presence of hydrothermally altered, pyrite-bearing volcaniclastic rocks 400m north along strike from the Confirmed Mineralised Zone is very encouraging as this indicates that the mineralised zone continues north along strike, which would considerably enlarge the gold inventory of the expanded Namdini Project.

MONITORING OF DRILLING PROGRAMS

Cardinal's technical and management team evaluates all of the available data on a daily basis with the main focus being the expansion of the gold potential for the expanded licence areas.

Cardinal is the owner and operator of its own drill rig and has established an express assaying service with its drilling results, enabling the Company to continuously improve its drill plan strategy as new information becomes available.

The Company will continue drilling selective holes, submitting the samples and be on standby as results are received. Once the results have been assessed, Cardinal can plan further drill holes to maximise expansion of the gold inventory within the Namdini Project.
